We hear you

Any gripes, kudos, or ideas? Call 378-9136 to sound off.

I was surprised to read your article about the (Planning) commissioner who is making money on her official actions. I think anyone that closely tied to development in Campbell should have been disqualified when she applied.

A Reader

Your story about the planning person this week states it was not apparent she was doing (most of) the studies required by the city. I don't see how people in the city didn't know about it. Somehow that just doesn't ring true.

Suspicious

Editor's note: In many cases the noise study was made one of the conditions for obtaining a building permit, etc. These studies often came in months after the original application came before the Planning Commission or, in some cases, days. The studies did not, in this case, go back before any official body for review.

What happens with that planning commissioner now? The case looks pretty clear to me. So what is the city going to do about it?

Curious

Editor's note: Right now they're waiting for the results of the investigation into any possible criminal actions. When that's completed and that issue settled it will be a case of moral conflict of interest, according to City Manager Bob Stephens. And, in that case, it will be up to the commissioner to decide.

I thought the loop street was suppose to be open today (Monday) but it's the same old thing. It's gotten so a trip through town which use to take 2 minutes now takes at least 5 minutes. Things had better be better when that other street opens. It sure has cost enough to take care of traffic on Campbell avenue. Personally, I think we could have spent that money to build a six-lane tunnel under the street.

Tired Motorist

Editor's note: A breakdown of construction equipment caused the delay. The new loop street (Civic Center drive) should be open by the time you read this.

Is it true you can be arrested for prostitution if you're caught hitchhiking barefoot?

10th Grader

Editor's note: No. That's one of several fallacies that gets passed around. A spokesman for the Campbell Police Department points out you can get in trouble though, if you're hitchhiking on the road instead of the sidewalk. And there are plenty of stories in the papers about the danger to hitchhikers; particularily girls. While we're at it there are two more fallacies that I believed for years. It is not illegal to drive barefoot, a local officer said, and the 25 MPH signs by schools are in effect only during the hours school is in session. I've al-

Porno racks under fire

PORNOGRAPHY IN Campbell?

One local woman thinks so and she's appearing before the City Council Monday night to ask them to do something about it.

Her concern, and that of many others who have complained, is with two racks in front of the Campbell Post Office nestled alongside regular news racks. Instead of newspapers they dispense bi-monthly tabloid style sexually explicit material.

Nancy Sanchou has been writing letters and getting petitions made up since she discovered the racks several weeks ago.

The petition, titled "Campbell Citizens Against Obscene Pornography," asks the City Council to adopt a local ordinance regulating pornography, "without cultural, educational, and aesthetic value to our community."

But it won't be a simple problem for the Council to tackle.

The Constitution protects First Amendment Rights to a free press and, according to Police Chief Don Burr, those tabloids don't fall under the legal definition of actionable pornography.

Photographs of sexual intercourse, unobstructed by stretegically placed headlines must be shown on the cover in order for the city to successfully prosecute. What's inside doesn't count.

In the case of the two tabloids, they use color cover-ups to keep within legal bounds.

Lt. Frank Furtaw, who has investigated complaints about these racks in the past, says he's tried several times to get the District Attorney to act.

"Whenever there's a new issue out (about every two weeks) I take them down for the DA to look at. But, so far, he says there's no case," Furtaw explained.

The local woman has been trying to drum up support for her cause through local churches and community groups. It's too soon to access that effort.

Postmaster Ed Lassengard had received several complaint calls about the racks, which have been there for about a year. But, he says, there's nothing he can do.

"They're not on government property," Lassengard explained, "they're on the sidewalk so it's city property."

No headway made

A confusing study session

By PAT SAFFORD

CITY OFFICIALS met with Campbell elementary school trustees Monday night to discuss three important issues. Three hours and thousands of words later the meeting broke up with those issues still unresolved.

The joint study session held at Campbell Junior High School that evening was attended by 140 people, the majority senior citizens who wanted to discuss using rooms in the vacant Hamilton School site.

They were told by school trustees any action on Hamilton School will have to wait until a study of district-wide facilities and enrollment trends is completed in about two months. And then, if the district doesn't need that site anymore, they'll be one of several groups considered.

"THE SENIORS have been studied to death," charged Richard Fischer, executive director of the Council on Aging. "And many of them won't be around in a few months when your study is done. Somehow, seniors always get caught up in this Catch 22 situation. The folks here in Campbell are losing out. I urge you to get your act together."

Fischer's frustration was echoed many times throughout the evening by other community members as the Neighborhood School Parks and Community Schools were discussed.

- The district can't make any commitment accept the Phase II park improvements at the school sites (to be paid for the by city) until they find out whether or not they'll be forced to make similar improvements to other school sites outside Campbell.

- NO ENDORSEMENT of the Community School concept has been made by the district.
- A decision on Hamilton School will have to wait.

A state mandated study committee reviewed that vacant school site earlier this year and concluded the site should be offered for lease for one or two years until the district decides whether or not to sell it.

"Has the board looked at the general recommendation of the Committee," Councilman Norm Paul wanted to know. "What is the board's response?"

Board President Donna Baird said, while there has been no official action on that report, she feels the board would be favorably impressed.

"But we would need a recommendation from the administration if we determined there was no use to us," she added.

Assistant Superintendent-Instruction Ken Meinecke said he looks at empty schools in another light. And he's thinking of Hamilton School as a possible instructional materials center.

Brent Evans, chairman of the Senior Coordinating Committee, (representing senior groups in Campbell) tried another approach Monday night.

"TAKE NOTE OF the seniors here tonight," he told the board. Evans urged the board to complete their study as quickly as possible.

"Are there some other facilities available in the meantime on a temporary basis?" he wanted to know. (Evans will be going through district policy to make that request properly this week but prospects are dim).

The only opposition to the use of Hamilton School for seniors came that night from Charlie Rose, a local businessman who says he lived on Hamilton ave. for 25 years.

"Hamilton avenue is a death trap for anyone who's old," Rose told officials.

An elderly man brought some comic relief to the tense meeting as he declared; "This postponement business is just another runaround. I'm retired from the (U.S.) Treasury service and I know what a runaround is!"

Members of the Community Schools Study Committee also had some sharp words for trustees that night.

"I've never been put through such a wringer as I have in this case," John Hanrahan, president of the committee declared. He also said he felt his group was getting the runaround in seeking an endorsement of the concept to enable the group to go ahead with specific planning.

"WE'VE BEEN working on this for better than a year now," Hanrahan remarked, "and I'm getting a little disgusted."

Larry Klepinger, co-chairman of the group, charged they hadn't even been able to get on the elementary district's board agenda since June.

Trustee President Donna Baird explained that the committee which decides which items to place on the board agenda (she and Superintendent Walt Hauss) decided to have staff help prepare a report of classes and programs now available and forwarded the Committee's report on to board members.

"We need a concrete proposal and then we will have something to act on," Baird declared.

Mel Estrada of the Campbell Union High School District, who has been working with the committee, told trustees he feels the committee has done their job (establishing that the community is interested). The next steps, he added, are for the school districts to study ways to help the group achieve their goal and to set up a coordinating system.

COUNCILMAN RUSTY Hammer told trustees the City Council had earlier endorsed the concept (on a 3-2 vote). "We were willing to bite the bullet."

But one of the councilmen who cast a "no" vote on that endorsement, Dean Chamberlin, said he's still opposed because the study didn't get into specifics, such as how the program would operate and who will pay for it.

He also had some criticism of the group's method of getting community support.

"They asked groups if they wanted to use the schools free of charge at any time for almost anything," Chamberlin charged. "Of course they said yes. After all, the price was right."

If Campbell is to institute a Community Schools program, like surrounding cities have, all the school districts and the city will have to work together on it. That prospect looked dim Monday night.

DAVE AIKMAN, a consultant for the county office of education, has been working with the Committee and had a few comments.

"It's obvious," he charged," that some of you have not even read the report. Community Schools have never been stopped when it comes to money and classes and activities are a very small facet of the program."

"The struggle now is between citizens and the professionals," Aikman said. "But your struggles are done. It's (the program's) already been done several times."

Councilman Rusty Hammer summed up the feeling of many as he left the three hour session.

"I'm more confused now than I was when the meeting started," he commented.

Campbell's Gordon Perry runs into a crowd of Lions during the Buccaneer's 20-14 upset win over Lincoln in Campbell high school's football opener. But it was the Bucs who were upset last weekend when they opened the West Valley Athletic League season against Del Mar. Campbell lost a 7-0 heartbreaker to Del Mar in the Don bowl. Meeting on senior housing

Campbell area residents will be able to find out more about two large senior citizen housing complexes planned for this city at a special meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 11 at 10:30 a.m. at the Campbell library.

The 12 story, 168-unit Wesley Manor development and 200 units planned by the Santa Clara County Housing Authority will be under discussion that day in the downstairs Community Room.

Both projects will be federally subsidized, which means seniors pay no more than 25 per cent of their net incomes for rent.

Appearing to discuss the projects will be Robert O. Sargent, of the Santa Clara Methodist Retirement Foundation, and John Burns, director of the housing authority.

The federal department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) recently approved a $10.3 million grant for a senior development in Campbell. No site has yet been found but Burns expects to have plans completed well within the one year HUD deadline.

Both developments are being designed for seniors with recreation and dining facilities and some units specifically designed for the handicapped.

Individuals who are 62 and over who meet the low-income guidelines are eligible for residence. Also eligible are couples where either the husband or wife is at least 62 years old.

The Tuesday meeting is co-sponsored by the City of Campbell and the Campbell Senior Social Club.

Those interested in living in one of these two developments should make a special effort to attend the session.

Long time civic leader succumbs

Private funeral services were held this week for L. E. (Bill) Means, 71, who died suddenly at Los Gatos-Saratoga Community Hospital September 30.

The City Hall flag was flown at half mast Monday in honor of Means, longtime civic leader, who had served on the city's Housing and Building Appeals Board since its inception.

A pharmacist, Means had operated drug stores in Santa Cruz and San Jose before coming to Campbell in 1946 where he associated with Clark's Drugs and Campbell Drugs until 1969 when he sold his interest. In recent years he had filled in as pharmacist in various stores in the area.

Means, who lived at 175 Poplar ave., was a member of the Campbell elementary school district Board of Trustees for 12 years and was active in other civic affairs. In addition to being the senior member of the city appeals board he has also served as president of the Campbell Kiwanis Club and was a member of Charity Lodge 362, F. & A.M. of Campbell.

Born in Redlands, California, Jan. 21, 1906, he grew up in Porterville where his father was city clerk. An outstanding athlete in high school, Means later attended the University of California at Berkeley, graduating in pharmacy.

Locally, he served as volunteer trainer and assisted in coaching at Campbell High School. He was a strong booster of Cal's sports program and helped send several outstanding prep athletes to the university, including Campbell's Craig Morton.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia of Campbell, two daughters, Pat Lamson of Sunnyvale and Marilyn Shreve of San Francisco, three grandchildren and a brother, Leslie Means, of Woodland.

Local Arrangements were made by Darling-Fisher Campbell Memorial Chapel.

Friends may make contributions to the Santa Clara County Heart Association in his name.

Jaywalkers are under scrutiny

Campbell High School students have been bringing home more than books from school lately. Like jaywalking citations from the Campbell Police Department.

Since the crackdown on jaywalkers began three weeks ago the students have been collecting the most tickets. Not because they're more flagrant violators. It's just there's more of them along the two target areas.

Increased patrols are underway near the high school and along downtown streets. With the new loop street open, that will become the third target area.

Captain John Butler is preparing a progress report on the crackdown this week.

ED TONINI

Tonini receives a posthumous award

Campbell elementary district's Teacher of the Year honors for 1977 went posthumously to Edward Tonini recently at the annual awards program sponsored by the San Jose Jaycees.

Tonini, who died in March of this year, was a teacher in the local district for 25 years and headed the Summer Music Program for many years.

In nominating Tonini, Superintendent Walt Hauss said, "All the teachers in the Campbell school district will be honored today as this plaque is given in memory of Edward Tonini."

Accepting the award was his widow, Vi Tonini, and Wally Johnson, who headed this year's Summer Music Program dedicated to Tonini.

Motorcycle radar unit A 'first' in the state

CAMPBELL HAS a "first" in the state, if not in the nation. A three-wheeled motorcycle radar unit. And some motorists wish we didn't have it.

Since it was placed in service about five months ago dozens of tickets have been issued by that officer who stands behind the three-wheeler.

"A lot of people say 'I didn't realize you were a radar unit'," says Mitch Becerra, that traffic officer.

The unorthodox radar unit is the brainchild of Becerra and Officer Al Wheeler who wanted to find a way to keep the white Harley Davidson motorcycle unit in use. That 1971 model, the oldest vehicle on the force, had been on stand-by duty.

In order to transform it into a radar unit the two had to find a cigarette lighter to install as a source of power. Becerra had a friend with an extra motorcycle cigarette lighter unit he gave to the local force. Mechanics at the Public Works Department did the rest.

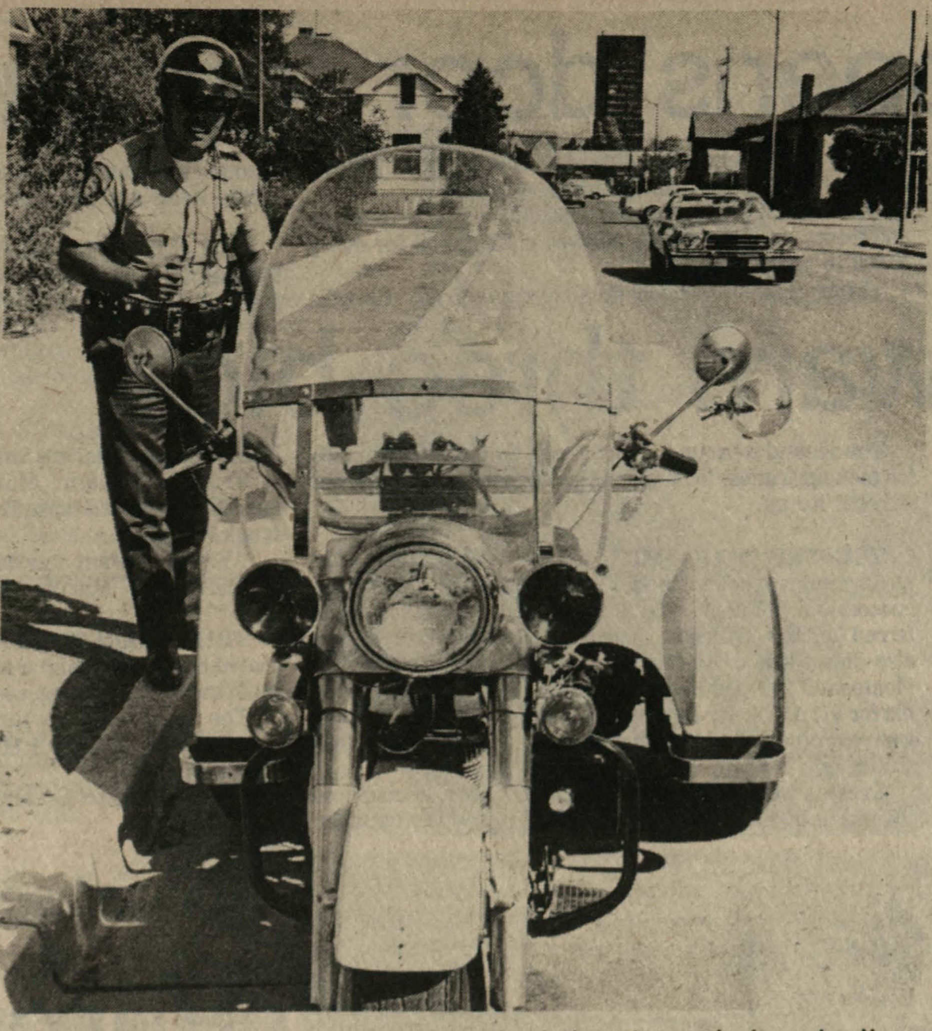
MOST OF THE time Becerra works in cooperation with one or both of Campbell's regular motorcycle officers who are stationed behind the three-wheeler. Becerra watches out for speeding motorists and then gets an official reading on his radar unit. The other officers then make the stop and write the ticket.

But Becerra can work alone and has on occasion.

In this case he finds a long stretch of road so he has time to get a good look at the speeder, clock him on radar and then step out and wave the surprised motorist over to the side of the road.

Becerra gets a lot of excuses from speeders (most are out of towners, he says) but the most common is, "I was in a hurry." "I'm late for work" is a close second.

So the next time you're in a hurry, or late for work, think of the three-wheeler . . . and slow down.



THIS QUIET, unassuming three-wheeled motorcycle is actually one of Campbell's three radar units in action. Traffic Officer Mitch Becerra has surprised a lot of motorists in recent months with his "pull over" signal. No one believes it's a radar unit. Dozens of ticketed drivers now know different.

New law opens door for 'auction house'

CAMPBELL DOESN'T have any auction houses in town and that's not surprising considering the present fee schedule for auctioneers. It's $50 per day for the first day and $25 for each additional day.

But the City Council will be holding a first reading on an ordinance that would reduce those fees to $100 yearly Monday night and will open the door to this type of permanent gavel business. That is, to both of them.

The ordinance also carries a condition that two antique and estate auctions will be allowed in Campbell for every 50,000 in population.

Major push for the ordinance came from Patricia Madden who wants to run an auction house for top quality estate items and for other antiques on consignment.

SHE ALREADY obtained a license for her business at 557 Salmar ave. when she ran into the restrictive fee schedule and called city officials and the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. The chamber Board of Directors took a stand in favor of lowering the fees for permanent estate auction houses, such as Madden's.

The proposed ordinance prepared by City Attorney Bob Dempster spells out what types of auction houses are covered.

The new $100 yearly fee applies to "permanent facilities for the sale at auction of antiques, museums, fine old furniture, estates, collections, art, glass, clocks, china" (but not limited to these items).

House would be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with an extra eight days monthly when sales could run till 11 p.m.

MADDEN HAS BEEN in the estate sale business for about eight years and says she plans to bring items to her local gallery that are "too fine for estate sales." She will also sell other goods on consignment with a 25 to 30 per cent fee based on the value of the item.

The businesswoman says she got started in the business after she and a partner used to visit garage sales "and saw how people were being used." The two later conducted garage sales and were first commissioned to liquidate the California Hotel in downtown San Jose.

Madden says she plans to keep auction items on display at the Salmar ave. address and hold auctions there periodically.

Trustees award three bids

THREE BIDS TOTALING over $90,000 were awarded last Tuesday night by Campbell Union High School District trustees. One contract, for a school bus, went to a high bidder.

The school bus contract went to Gillig Corporation for a bid of $56,450. This was substantially higher than the $40,862.05 submitted by ServiCar Vehicle Sales.

But, according to Larry Linden, assistant superintendent for business and support services; the Servicar coach did not measure up to district specifications. Liden expressed particular concern with the brake shoes of the vehicle, which he said were smaller than the Gillig coach. The school board unanimously approved his recommendation.

The second item up for discussion that night, two half-ton pick up trucks, took extra time as trustees questioned several items.

TRUSTEE CRAIG SMITH asked why the bid was for an 8-cylinder truck instead of a 6-cylinder which is "more economical." Liden, unable to answer the question, deferred to Jim Gillespie, assistant Superintendent, who also didn't know. At this point Superintendent Nicholas Montesano stepped in and asked the Board to accept the bid for $11,117.30 for both vehicles on faith that the people who submitted the bid knew best what the specifications should be.

Trustee Mac Martinez moved to put off a decision on the bid until more information could be made available. That was seconded by Smith.

Trustee William Murphy then asked why the specifications had specifically called for "A fleetline truck."

"We don't want anything more deluxe than we absolutely need," Murphy added.

THE MOTION TO defer action on this item was defeated by a 3-2 vote and a second motion, to accept the bid by Winchester hearing was approved unanimously.

The third item up for bid, a new driver trainers Simulator for Campbell High School was awarded with little discussion.

Doron Precision Systems was awarded that contract for $22,671.72.

GAMES, dramatics, songs, crafts and stories are just a few of the activities planned for the Tiny Tot class which gets underway for the three-and-a-third to five year old set on Tuesday, Oct. 11 at Dover School. Above, Brenda Heiser is shown with Conrad Krisik and Shauna Burns. Fee for the Community Services-sponsored class is $12 and sessions will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 to 11:30 a.m. through Dec. 8. For information call 378-8141 weekdays.

Special session

Pumpkins and ponies don't mix, man told

AT A SPECIAL council session called last Saturday morning Dennis Seymour got permission to operate his pumpkin patch at 150 E. Hamilton ave. again this year, with a few conditions.

- No pony.
- No open bonfires.
- The operation to be closely monitored by the police department with the Police Chief given the authority to revoke Seymour's license if any local laws are violated.

"Everyone has a ponyride," Seymour told the Council Saturday. "Without it we won't be able to make enough profits to break even."

But Chief Don Burr cited a problem with the pony last year, along with other situations at the Pumpkin Patch in making his recommendation (The pony got loose and was found grazing in a neighboring yard).

SEYMOUR HAD already printed up brochures for his four pumpkin patch locations this year (including Campbell's) and Councilman Rusty Hammer had some pointed questions about some of that advance billing, including pony rides.

How can you have a brochure printed, Hammer asked Seymour, when you haven't obtained a permit to operate?

He also chided the man for putting off applying for his permit until the last minute, which prompted the special session.

The next regular council session is set for Oct. 10 and Seymour said this would be too late since his pumpkin selling season starts the last part of September.

Local officials have no quarrel with selling pumpkins. It was the stuffed animal sales and the hot air balloon they took Seymour to task for last year.

The local businessman told them he didn't give permission for either the sales (without a business license) or the balloon (without a permit). But, when contacted later, the stuffed animal seller told councilman he was giving Seymour part of the proceeds and the balloonist said he was given permission to use the property by the businessman.

This year officials aren't taking any chances.

Seymour has permission to sell pumpkins, candles, pumpkin recipe books and other Halloween specialties such as costumes or floral arrangements.

But no pony, or balloons or stuffed animals.

CETA wins election handily

Negotiations between teachers and the Campbell elementary school district Board of Trustees will be underway again with the Campbell Elementary Teachers Association (CETA) named official bargaining representatives.

Last week the CETA came out well ahead of two competing organizations in an election to decide who will represent the approximately 400 classroom teachers and other non-management certificated employees in the local district.

The National Education Association affiliate, CETA, garnered 211 votes with 64 for the West Valley Federation of Teachers, local 1953 AFL-CIO, and 71 votes for the California Teamsters Public, Professional and Medical Employees Union, local 911.

"CETA has already presented their contract proposal to the Board of Trustees and has requested that negotiations resume immediately," said Phil Short, CETA spokesman. shortly after the election.

Statewide, the CTANEA affiliates now represent 173,811 teachers in 800 districts compared to 17,934 AFL-CIO affiliates in 26 districts. Teamsters and independents combined represent 4,159 teachers in 18 districts.

Leave door open awhile

The change in the restrictive fee schedule for auctioneers is, we feel, long overdue. But the method of handling the particular case which brought about that change could be improved.

A first reading will be held next Monday on that change along with a proviso that two auction houses be allowed in Campbell for every 50,000 in population.

If approved by the City Council, the second reading and final adoption of that new law would be in effect by the end of this month.

We aren't objecting to opening that door to this type of business. Just to slamming it shut so fast behind the applicant who lobbied to get it changed.

Obviously, the city doesn't want 100 auction houses operating throughout the city. But there could be many current antique or art businesses in town who would be interested in this type of operation. And they should have an equal chance to apply for one of the two licenses to be issued.

A more equitable method of handling this case would be to set the new fee change in motion and delay issuing the two licenses for a month.

The first come, first served approach is a fair one only when everyone concerned has been invited to the party.

How do we petition?

EDITOR:

I read with interest about the recently publicized practice of Superintendent Walter Hauss and the Campbell Union School District Board eliminating all public communications (letters) from the Board agenda.

I must conclude that this presents a "situation." After all, how do members of the public express their opinions about school matters so that their opinions are known not only to a few educational bureaucrats but to the Board members and to the public at large?

Are we to assume that if such an "unreasonable" method for petitioning our school officials for a redress of grievances is eliminated, then such methods as informational picketing, demonstrations at school sites and lawsuits against school board members and bureaucrats are to be encouraged as "reasonable" alternatives?

Of course, if the answer is in the negative, then how is the community to know about grievances and differing views on matters of public education?

In commenting on Gordon Martin's insistence that he be permitted to exercise his First Amendment rights, Board Chairman Donna Baira was quoted as replying: "The only PROBLEM is your (Martin's) disrespect for the Board."

Whoops, Donna. Haven't you heard? We don't have any "problems" in the Campbell Union School District, only "situations."

Tired of being shoved aside

EDITOR:

This letter is not meant to be mean or nasty; just concerned.

I am an alumni of Blackford High School. We subscribe to your paper. I really enjoy it. But Blackford High School has been shoved aside one too many times.

I'm tired of picking up papers and reading of other teams and Blackford not being recognized.

Sept. 16, 1977 Blackford creamed San Lorenzo 34-0. I've been going to Blackford games over the last 10 years and never have I seen a better team than they are this year. They have an extremely strong line, great receivers and a fantastic quarterback. They are strong in spirit and have great potential.

Please take recognition of them this year. They have a great change at taking league.

I am not the only one that expresses these views. Many parents, students and alumni share these same feelings.

I realize you are very busy and must get lots of letters but please consider what I've said.

Over 500 individuals were tested.

A GOOD EXCUSE

If a Campbell man wanted to beg off tilling the "lower 40" last week he had the perfect excuse. Someone stole his rototiller.

According to police reports the $350 machine was stolen from the backyard of an E. Central ave. home.

$16,000 HEIST

Private Stock, a men's clothing store in the Prune-Yard, was reportedly robbed of 80 men's suits last Saturday morning. Value of the suits, in various sizes and styles, was $200 each.

According to police reports, the burglar(s) broke in through the front window and removed the suits from a large display rack.

MOOSE ROBBED

The Moose Lodge at 785 McGlincy lane was reportedly robbed of $540 in cash last week.

Police are investigating.

SLEEPING BAGS BAGGED

Mt. Equipage on S. Winchester blvd., was reportedly broken into last week and $1,747.50 in camping equipment and clothing stolen.

Included in the theft report were sleeping bags, backpacks, a calculator and 16 jackets valued at $63 each.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Four juveniles, ranging in age from 9 to 12, were nabbed by Campbell police officers last week after reportedly opening unlocked cars and removing what was inside.

Police later recovered three pairs of sunglasses (including one valued at $35), $4 in cash, a measuring tape, soap dish and $2.40 in empty cola bottles.

An officer spotted two of the four inside one car and questioning led to the other thefts.

Under the new juvenile procedure which took effect Sept. 1, the incident was turned over to the juvenile officer for disposition.

ON TO THE GONG SHOW

Ten members of the Campbell Exchange Club will be auditioning for "The Gong Show" later this month.

At last report the group planned to perform a routine patterned after their belly button song and dance made famous (or infamous) in the Prunes-A-Poppin show locally.

According to Ken Mantle those auditioning will include Ron Verdi, Bob Roe, Walt Miller, Art Kee, Jim Calogridis, Bob Kyle, Don Kehler, Dan Ames, Ski Kavaleski and Mantle.

If they get on the show and come in first they'll use the prize money (about $700) for one of their local community projects, Mantle says.

Good luck, Exchangers.

Extra salt for young athlete?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dorothy Terrill, a registered dietitian and instructor at De Anza College, holds a M.S. in nutrition from UC Berkeley. Questions about nutrition are invited. Address all questions to: Dorothy Terrill, Nutrition Notes, Suburban Newspaper Publications Inc., P.O. Box 368, Cupertino, 95014. Mrs. Terrill will answer questions as space allows.

"My son plays high school football," writes a reader, "and the coach has told him to take extra salt. I am concerned about whether or not this is advisable. What do you think?"

There is strong evidence now that excess salt in the diet predisposes to high blood pressure. While it may not have this effect immediately, I would be greatly concerned with giving young athletes extra salt. The ill effects of this practice will not ordinarily show up until later life.

Salt is sodium chloride. Sodium and potassium are two minerals which must be in balance in the body. Sodium is found primarily in the fluid outside the body cells and potassium is inside the cells.

When excess sodium is taken into the body, it tends to withdraw water from the cells to the fluid outside in order to dilute the sodium concentration. During exercise the body needs the fluid inside the body cells for the various metabolic processes rather than having it move outside the cell due to the excess sodium.

Exercise causes sweating. During sweating both water and salt are lost. Salt has been popularly given to athletes with the idea that they needed to replace the lost salt. However, it is known that the body compensates for this additional sweat. A hormone controls the sodium loss so that the sweat is less concentrated than in normal conditions. An athlete who is "in shape" loses less salt than other people but there is no way to measure how much salt is lost, although the water loss can be determined.

The normal American diet contains much more salt than is needed by the body so even during strenuous athletic competitions, extra salt is not needed and may even be dangerous. As a general guide, if the water loss exceeds 5 to 10 pounds in a single workout or competition, some additional salt may be given. However, this is replaced best by adding salt to the normal diet.

If a solution is given, it should be very dilute — about 1/3 of a tsp. per quart water. Some of the commercial drinks available may taste good but if they are the exclusive fluid source, they can add too much salt. When these products are used the athlete should also drink some plain water.

In fact, the most important aspect of maintaining any athlete in good condition is plenty of water. Merely using thirst as a guide for water intake is not wise. Water "breaks" should be scheduled at regular intervals before and during practice and games. The body maintains proper body temperature by having enough water available so sweating can occur with the resulting loss of excess heat.

It is also necessary that sufficient skin area be exposed so that the sweat can evaporate for the cooling to occur. High humidity may prevent this evaporation and cooling. Obesity can also prevent it since the layer of fat under the skin helps retain body heat.

Coaches and concerned parents are encouraged to read FOOD FOR SPORT by Dr. Nathan J. Smith, Bull Publishing Co., 1976.

Effects of pollution

The state Air Resources Board announced it will study the effect of air pollution on children in California, and prepare a report for the state legislature.

Loan of water

San Joaquin Valley farmers will be able to complete their irrigation cycle this year, according to an announcement from the California Department of Water Resources. DWR has loaned 75,000 acre-feet of water to valley farmers.

The water, on loan from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, will be delivered through the Delta-Mendota Canal. The water is being drawn from the San Luis Reservoir, a joint state-federal pool.

If it continues. . .

The U.S. Bureau of Reclamation announced that a rerun of the 1977 water year might lead to Central Valley Project water deliveries being limited to holders of Sacramento River agricultural water rights; some municipal and industrial water in the Delta and east San Francisco Bay area; and a limited amount of water for preservation of perennial crops.

According to a bureau spokesman, overdrafting of ground water might be the only alternative available, since CVP deliveries would amount to slightly more than 200,000 acre-feet (aside from water rights).

Two water dry years have reduced CVP reservoirs to their lowest point since 1944.

Blame it on the drought!

YOU CAN BLAME the drought for the fact that the new loop street didn't open on schedule Monday. Well, indirectly anyway. What happened, according to Project Engineer Dave Valkenaar, is that Raisch Paving's machinery broke down. In fact, six of their seven paving machines were out of commission. During the long-dry winter, spring and summer Raisch had kept these machines humming without their usual "time out" for overhauls. Last week six of them gave out. Valkenaar says the new loop street, Civic Center drive, is due to be opened today or tomorrow morning at the latest.

Daisies loop opening

City councilmen used wire cutters to splice the ribbon at the official dedication ceremonies for Civic Center drive last Saturday morning. That's because the "ribbon" was boughs of greenery and daisies strung on wire.

About 50 people gathered for the official opening that morning which included a short talk by Mayor Bill Podgorsek and a walk down the north loop street before refreshments were served by members of the Civic Improvement Commission.

Opening of the second loop street to traffic, originally scheduled for Monday, had to be delayed until later this week.

LOST KITTEN

A lively black and white kitten has been missing from his Budd avenue home, near Winchester since Sept. 28.

The "holy terror," named R2 D2, is three months-old.

If a nice family has adopted him it's okay with the former owners. They just want to know he's alright.

Call Sally at 378-7346 evenings or 293-7972 days.

GOOFY IS GONE

Goofy, a 30 pound Terrier mix, disappeared in the vicinity of Campbell Ave. and John J. Morgan Park Oct. 1.

She is a short-haired dog with tan, black and white markings. Her most prominent feature is dark brown ears and she is wearing a white flea collar.

Goofy's owners are anxious to get her back and they are offering a reward. If you have any information call 378-7697 after 6 p.m.

Council meeting

Public works projects are going out to bid

APPROVAL OF PLANS and a call for bids on two city public works projects totaling $637,000 comes before the City Council this Monday, Oct. 10. Sessions start at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber, 75 N. Central ave.

A city-wide street overlay project was one of two local proposals which received funding through the federal Public Works Bill last month. That extensive street work program is estimated at $439,000.

The second federally-funded project is renovation of the lower level at City Hall, tagged at about $198,000.

In order to qualify for the federal funds, cities must have projects underway within 60 days of notification their application has been approved.

MONDAY NIGHT'S call for bids allows Campbell to fall within that time limit.

Also on the agenda that night will be:

- A public hearing on plans by Ira Ellison to construct six townhouses and two condominiums at 507 W. Rincon ave.
- A hearing on the city's Housing and Community Development funds. Councilmen are expected to set two neighborhood meetings during the next month to solicit ideas from the community on how to spend the over $300,000 in federal funds.
- A request by Robert Von Bargen to locate a roofing materials sales yard at 64 Harrison ave., near the new north loop street. Earlier, planning commissioners unanimously recommended against that proposal.

A REPORT ON the city's Historic Preservation Committee. So far just two eligible applicants have applied for the three citizen-at-large posts on the committee. They are Paul J. Rickey, jr., 399 Calado ave., a school custodian and art instructor; and Fredrik A. Rusch, 600 Ginden drive, an architect. Margaret Fraker, a former parks and recreation commissioner, also applied but she lives outside the city limits.

- A report on the operation of an arcade at the corner of Winchester and Budd ave. Earlier, adjacent merchants complained of disturbances by the young patrons of that arcade.

PRESENTING a few of the thousands of items that go on sale this Saturday, Oct. 8, are three members of the Del Mar High School PTA, from left, Elaine Scadden, Phyllis DePalmo and Mary Cook. The third annual Del Mar Flea Market will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Saturday in the school parking lot at 1224 Del Mar ave. In addition to individual sellers and the PTA bake sale this year's event will feature special craft displays.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You do everything with great gusto, Ari. Especially fighting and loving. The fighting, however, is usually followed by passionate reunions, for you cannot hold a grudge for long. This week you may meet head-on with another Ram. Careful!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Just when you think your ship of romance is grounded, you finally make it out to sea. In your heart, Taurus, you carry a precious cargo and before week is over, love comes aboard. Goody.

GEMINI (May 20-June 20): Don't ignore empty hand which is stretched forth this week, Gem. Fill it. Of course, the nicest thing you can fill it with is one of your own hands. Warmth follows and seeds of friendship germinate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your circle widens, Moonbaby, and romance enters picture. Before last day you may have to tap dance your way out of difficult situation. And the beat goes on. And on. And on.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): If you hear the sound of one hand clapping, Leo, perhaps it is time to break the silence. Adventure awaits this week, if you will but arise from your TV chair and go forth into the world of reality. Week ends with a rush.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Shorter days and cooler nights create a snuggle-up mood. Wrap yourself in an Indian Blanket, Virgo, and when the New Moon winks, you wink back. But, of course!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Troika replaces team and you slip into new harness. Your sense of balance may be momentarily thrown off, Lib, but shift in power gives you greater "pull" and certainly less "dead weight". You find your stride before last day and step out with easy gait.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Playing for the top prize means playing with finesse, Scorp. Pursue politely and you win respect as well as reward. Your gallant manner helps scoop opposition and week ends on key of F for foxy finish.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): After slow beginning, energy returns and, in typical Saj fashion, you are ready to grapple with the entire universe. Relationship with friend /lover takes on new dimension. Week ends on key of E, for esprit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Play in which you have minor role approaches denouncement. Stage may get rather messy as plot unravels. Keep broom handy, Cap. If you don't use it to clean up the place you may want it for self-defense.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Don't wait until your favorite pony is lured from the stable before you lock the door, Aquari. Protect that which you cherish by paying closer attention. Wild oat orgy must be cancelled. Bit by bit confidence is restored.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Concerning secret plan; sort pieces of information and then act. From action springs hope. From hope, love. From love, laughter. Pas de deux scheduled for last day. Olga knows.

Two laws on "wifebeating"

Governor Brown has signed two bills to curb domestic violence.

The legislation establishes six "Domestic Violence Pilot Centers," to aid victims of family disputes, and extends felony penalties to "wifebeating."

Surveying all businesses

The Employment Development Department announced a statewide survey of all California industry and business, designed to produce detailed information on the type of occupations found within each major industry. The data can then be used in the formation of occupational and vocational training programs through the EDD.

Cooperation in investigations

Attorney General Evelle Younger cited "the lack of cooperation between law enforcement" as a major problem area in the battle against organized crime, during an August press briefing to announce the Organized Crime Commission's formation under the Department of Justice.

A bill that addresses that issue has now become law in California.

It will authorize state agencies to assist in investigations conducted by the attorney general or district attorneys into organized crime activity.

Senate author David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, explained, "In many complex fraud schemes for example, law enforcement officials would like to bring in special expertise of state agencies. The State Department of Real Estate for example, could aid in land fraud cases."

The bill, SB 1053, had the sponsorship of law enforcement organizations.

Tough week ahead for WVAL prognosticators

THE WEST VALLEY Athletic League race looks pretty tough as the football teams of the WVAL head into their second week of activity for 1977.

Not only does the week look tough for the football teams, but also for the prep football predictors at this newspaper.

The predictors boast a lofty 14-3 record after the first three weeks of the 1977 football season, rolling to a 3-1 mark in the first week of WVAL action last weekend.

But tough games this week put that fine record in jeopardy.

In Friday afternoon games, Prospect heads to Camden, Leigh is at Branham and Del Mar hosts visits Blackford at 3:30 p.m. The Cougars will take the Panthers by 18, the Bruins will stop the Longhorns by eight and the Dons will nip the Braves by two.

On Saturday at 8 p.m., Westmont will visit Los Gatos and will win by six.

In a non-league game Friday at 3:30 p.m., Campbell will host Wooside and will win by six.

Oreglia leads way

Del Mar stuns Bucs in WVAL opener 7-0

COMPARATIVE SCORES are often deceiving. Take for example the results of the Lincoln-Del Mar and the Lincoln-Campbell games.

The Del Mar Dons opened their 1977 football season against Lincoln three weeks ago and were humbled 40-0 by the Lions.

The next week Lincoln traveled to Campbell and was upset by the physical Buccaneers 20-14.

Based on the results of those two games, Campbell appeared to be in for an easy game last Friday when they opened their West Valley Athletic League season at Del Mar against the Dons.

But a not so funny thing happened to the Bucs on the way to their easy victory — they lost!

That's right, in the WVAL's very first week of action Del Mar already came up with the upset of the season.

"They might not lose another game this season," Del Mar head coach Ron Leimbach said of the Bucs. "Campbell is a great football team. We just caught them when they weren't ready to play. Fortunately, we were ready to play."

"THEY JUST outplayed," said a disappointed Al Matthews, Campbell's head coach. "They outhustled us. They played with more intensity and more enthusiasm."

"The kids showed a lot of character," said Leimbach, referring to the way the Dons rebounded from their loss to Lincoln. "We were ready to play."

Sophomore quarterback Bruce Prothro guided the Dons to their first and only score of the season in the second quarter.

Prothro marched the Dons 80 yards before hitting Dave Garcia in the endzone with a pass from six yards out for the game's lone touchdown. George Rodriquez booted the extra point.

A 45 yard hook-up between Prothro and Rodriquez had keyed the Del Mar drive.

After that it was all defense.

"Our defense was really the key," praised the Del Mar mentor. "Our whole defense stood out."

But it was Del Mar linebackers Larry Oreglia and Bob Quadros who stood out the most.

"Their two linebackers did a great job," praised Matthews. "Especially their right linebacker (Oreglia). He couldn't wait to tackle our guys. He was all over the place."

"THEY DID a great job," added Leimbach.

Other defensive standouts for the Dons in the win included end Jim Slattery and cornerback Ed Toro and Warren Clifton.

Prothro keyed the offense, completing six of 10 passes for 160 yards in his first varsity start. Warren led the ground game with 60 yards.

Leimbach singled out center Ken Lorea, tackles Quadros and Chuck Wiefels and guards Oreglia and Jeff Barone for their work in the offensive line.

Leimbach said it was the "attitude of the players themselves" that enabled the Dons to post the upset.

"They just wanted to win and they went out and did it," he added. "They could have won this game without coaches. They're a great bunch of kids."

The Dons travel to Blackford Friday for a 3:30 p.m. contest with the Braves, who suffered their second straight loss last week. Blackford opened their WVAL slate by losing to Leigh 15-7.

Campbell, meanwhile, will attempt to rebound from its stunning loss to the Dons when it plays host to Woodside Friday at 3:30 p.m.

Barons take over lead in Campbell softball race

THE RED BARONS moved ahead of Killroy by a half game in the red hot Campbell Winter softball league race last week by dealing the Clowns and Bearcat Construction a pair of defeats.

Home runs by Ron Coleman, Pete Salazar, Willie Lopez and Jess Salazar paced the Red Barons to an 18-6 rout of the Clowns.

Rick Prescott ripped a pair of doubles while teammates P. Salazar, Marc Salazar and Richard Sanchez each had one for the winners.

Jerry Ruggiero tossed the win for the Barons, scattering eight hits without walking a batter.

Harold Patton and Brutus LeCon both belted homers for the Clowns.

The Barons had a tougher time with Bearcat Construction but still came away with a 5-2 win. Ruggiero again lobbed the win, allowing just six hits.

Sanchez and P. Salazar led the Barons' nine-hit attack with doubles.

THE BARONS also topped the New York Lifers 6-2. Lopez had a homer and Ruggiero did the pitching for the winners.

Bearcat Construction had a pair of wins to counter its loss to the Barons. Bearcat stopped the No Names 17-7 and then whipped the Clowns 13-3.

Joe McGuire homered in the win over the No Names, Rick Kaefer notching the pitching victory.

Ron Herrera and Rick Stasi both laced doubles for the losers.

Against the Clowns, Joe McGuire unloaded a homer while Barry Freeman and Kaefer each doubled.

LeCon homered and Patton doubled for the Clowns.

Third period spells disaster for Vikings

FOR THREE periods, the West Valley College Vikings refused to allow Chabot to cross the goalline with the football in their Golden Gate Conference opener at Buck Shaw Stadium.

The Vikes did allow Chabot a field goal and were hit by the Gladiators for a safety, but at the same time West Valley was putting a pair of touchdowns on the scoreboard to offset Chabot's five points.

So, for three out of four periods last Friday night, the Vikings were outscoring the Glads. But, oh, that one period!

It was the third period that spelled disaster last week for West Valley when the Vikes were clubbed for 24 points after halftime, Chabot riding its big third to a 29-14 GGC victory.

It was the first win of the season for the Glads after starting the year with three straight losses. West Valley fell to 1-2 with the loss.

"They were 0-3 going into the game and came out hungry," admitted West Valley head coach John Nicholas of Chabot. "They also came out with a new quarterback we hadn't seen."

"I think that we can play more consistently," added Nicholas. "We played well in the first and fourth but that third quarter really hurt us."

"WE'RE YOUNG and inexperienced, but one of these days we're going to get it together and do alright," said Nicholas. "We have a good football team."

Nicholas is hoping that Saturday night will be the time his Vikes "get it together" when they travel north to visit Diablo Valley College at 7:30 p.m.

"They have a strong defense and a very fine passing game with a returning quarterback," said Nicholas of Diablo Valley.

West Valley fought Chabot to a scoreless tie after the first period last Friday before the Glads drilled a second quarter field goal to take a 3-0 lead.

But after Dave Bakke (Campbell) picked off a pass late in the period, Bill Tantillo (Branham) and Rocky Pena (Westmont) worked together to get West Valley the lead.

Tantillo went to Pena on a 43 yard pass play and went back to him for 14 to set up a six yard touchdown pass in the final 30 seconds of the half. Rich Eagle (Los Gatos) booted the extra point to give West Valley the 7-3 halftime lead.

But Chabot came fighting back in the third quarter to put 24 points on the scoreboard. The Glads added a fourth quarter safety to account for their 29 points.

WEST VALLEY managed a second touchdown in the final stanza. Duran Evans broke a play 56 yards to take the ball deep into Chabot territory and, after a pass interference call in the endzone, Evans bulled over from the one. Eagle's kick made the final 29-14.

Tantillo finished the night nine for 20 for 129 yards and one touchdown through the skies. Tantillo was intercepted once.

Kelly Pierson completed two of four passes for 25 yards, Randy Scacutto (Westmont) hooked up on one of three tosses for 11 yards and Brian Jeffries (Bellarmine) completed one pass for four yards.

Pena gathered in three aerials for 63 yards to lead Viking receivers. Bryon Axt (Leigh) caught three passes for 36 yards and Evans caught three passes for 22 yards. Jeff Kahn (Mitty) snatched two tosses for 26 yards, Marty Mullins (Leigh) snagged one for four yards and Tracy Wilson (Branham) caught one for eight yards.

Evans led the Viking ground show with 61 yards on eight carries and Wilson picked up 20 yards on nine totes before leaving the game in the first half with an injury.

Nicholas praised the work of first year offensive linemen Dan Browning (Prospect) at center and Jim Sorrentino (Branham) at tackle. "They're coming along well," said the coach.

Leading the Viking defensive attack were cornerbacks Steve Cusella (Camden) and Vic Druhan (Leigh).

Tennis classes offered

A RECREATION tennis class, developed by Foothill College tennis coach Tom Chivington and Stanford University tennis coach Dick Gould, is being offered by the Campbell Community department.

The program will include six hours of intensive instruction plus a booklet of basic strokes and doubles strategy.

The class will begin Oct. 10. Registration is being taken at 75 N. Central ave. The evening class is $13.50 for six lessons and will be held at Campbell high school.

INSULATING CAN SAVE OVER $50 A YEAR IN HEATING COSTS.

Heat rises. That's why the attic is where most heat-loss happens. The cost of heat keeps rising, too. That's why, more than ever, it pays to insulate. Insulating an attic can save the average homeowner at least $50 a year in heating costs. That means insulation will not only pay for itself, but will save money…and energy…too.

PG&E will make insulating your home easier by arranging free estimates from two qualified contractors. If you request it, we'll inspect the work when it's done. And we'll give you a certificate of installation to R-19 standards.

So if you want help in contractor referrals, or more information, call PG&E's Energy Conservation Center, toll free, at 800-792-8000, Monday through Friday, 8 AM to 8 PM. (If your telephone area code is 805, call collect to 415-543-2073.) Or fill out and mail the coupon or return it with your bill payment.

Do it now, before winter sets in. So you can feel warm all over about the money you'll save.

Rainbows still unbeaten after sweep of Oak Grove

THE DEL MAR Rainbows remained unbeaten in PAL Winter League baseball last Sunday by recording their third consecutive doubleheader sweep.

Oak grove was the Rainbows' most recent victim, suffering 8-3 and 8-2 losses at PAL Stadium. Del Mar raised its record to 6-0 with the twinbill sweep while Oak Grove's mark dipped to 3-3.

Del Mar entered the last half of the fourth inning trailing 2-1 in the lid lifter. But the Rainbows exploded for seven runs in that inning and then coasted the rest of the way to victory.

Sean Venezia's two run double to left keyed the uprising while Kevin Cesar and Mike Greco both lashed two run singles. Dan McKay contributed a run scoring double.

Cesar and Greco paced the Del Mar attack in the first game with two hits apiece. Fred Gradel chipped in with a single.

Jeff Blobaum, who upped his record to 3-0, notched the win by working five innings on the mound.

DURING HIS stint on the mound Blobaum gave up two unearned runs, two hits and five walks. John Benevento wrapped up the victory with two strong innings of relief.

In the nightcap, Tom Bell posted his second win of the season, with a save from Scott Levander.

Bell hurled the first five frames, allowing two runs and two hits while striking out six. Levander tossed two no-hit innings of relief and fanned three.

Bell won his own game with a two out, two run homer over the leftfield fence in the third inning, snapping a 1-1 tie.

Del Mar broke the game open in the sixth with a five run rally.

Venezia lashed a pair of doubles, Rich Benevento doubled and singled and Bell stroked two singles to pace the Del Mar offense. Gary Cunningham, Jim Dorr, Greco and Gradel had one hit apiece.

The Rainbows risk their winning streak Sunday at Del Mar when they host San Jose in a doubleheader. Game times are 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Bobby Sox sign-ups

THE Moreland Bobby Sox softball league will hold Winter League sign-ups again Saturday at Castro junior high school from 9 a.m. to noon.

Viking fencers set for battle

FOR WEEKS NOW, a group of athletes out at West Valley College have been exercising and practicing their specialty without the chance to actually compete in an intercollegiate event.

Well, all of that exercising and practice looks like it will pay off next for the Vikings — next Tuesday, it will be "on guard" for the West Valley College Fencing team!

The Vikings will break into action next Tuesday, Oct. 11, when they visit San Jose State University for a non-league match.

"San Jose State has one of the strongest fencing teams in the state," said Viking coach Alice Parsons. "They'll be very strong. But we could finish first or second among junior college competition this year."

Returner Leslie Miller along with first year performers Sandra Fairbrother and Twila Kim make up the West Valley women's team this season.

Alex Stouras heads the men's team at WVC along with Pat Lanfri, Bob Costick and David Oberhoffer.

Parsons looks for strong jc competition to come from the City College of San Francisco and Monterey Peninsula College. The Vikes will meet CCSF on Oct. 21 and MPC a day later.

Ship ahoy, landlubbers . . . the H.M.S. ENDEAVOUR is now at full sail at 5600 Stevens Creek Blvd. (formerly Captain Cook's). Mgr. Steve Evarkou invites one & all to participate in the christening . . . See you there!!

Not only sports enthusiasts, but Peninsulites from all over are appreciating the new SECOND FLOOR restaurant located within the new COURTSIDE TENNIS CLUB in Los Gatos. This restaurant is "open to the public" & you'll be enthralled as you enter via the winding staircase or by the wrought iron & glass elevator. There's dancing every nite to PAZAZZ (make a note of this) THEY SERVE SAT. & SUN. LUNCH. In other words, lunch and dinner are served 7 days a wk. Why don't you call 358-2678 for a reservation?

From the wide window walls at the ECHO, you dine amidst creekside greenery . . . tall trees will transport you to a rustic, wooded retreat — while here you are dining right in the midst of Los Altos. I know of no other restaurant where you can find these combinations — great hospitality, excellent cuisine & a country atmosphere. Why don't you call for reservations for either lunch or dinner — open 7 days. After dinner there's dancing — Wed.-Sat. in the lounge.

I visited the BLACK KETTLE Restaurant in Campbell last wk. & enjoyed a delightful lunch . . . The interior is delightful, with warm wood tones & pretty planters & hanging baskets — there's an abundant salad bar & a busy bar-lounge. Remember the BLACK KETTLE features a spec. Mon. nite dinner, 4 p.m.-10 p.m. featuring BBQ Spareribs, $4.95; Teriyaki Chicken Breast marinated & served over rice, $4.95; Petite Top Sirloin, $5.25; T-Bone Steak, $6.25. Don't forget the famous "Sun. Champagne Brunch" from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. — $2.95-$4.95. Simply marvelous.

The DRYING SHED Restaurant is situated right in the middle of an orchard, truly a pleasant atmosphere . . . It's a unique restaurant filled with memorabilia of the past. Adorning the walls you'll find old kitchen utensils, rolling pins, enameled plates, jello molds, etc. & the hospitality & service is simply above reproach. There's a Sun. Buffet luncheon serving Roast Baron of Beef, BBQ Spareribs, Baked Chicken, Sugar cured Ham, Petrale of Sole, 4 vegs., 18 salads, homemade soup only $4.95 (child $2.95). Highly recommended!

Wherever you travel in the Bay Area, there's a SIRLOIN & BREW UNLIMITED close by for unvarying quality & modest prices. Their V.I.P. Steak is as tender in Belmont as it is in Fremont. Their lavish & tempting salad bar is as appealing in Saratoga as it is in Oakland. Louisiana Red Snapper is as delicately prepared in S.F. as in Belmont. Whichever SIRLOIN & BREW UNLIMITED you choose, you can always count on unlimited pitchers of cold beer or sangria or bottles of burgundy or chablis incl. in the price of the dinner.

Joe Lohman, live-wire new manager of the new CASTAWAY, the scenic showplace on Coyote Point, San Mateo, surely makes things happen. His Luncheon Fashion Shows (styles by Marnee Jones School of Modeling, S.J.) has caught on w/gals who enjoy informal modeling & good dining. Joe doesn't forget the guys, because they can come & watch "Mon. Nite Football" in the lounge where a spec. gridiron fare of hot dogs, beer, popcorn & other male favorites are served. Drinks are hefty & perfectly-blended from reports I've received by professional football fans.

Have you seen the new menu at CLEMENTINE'S?? It's fantastic . . . filled with tempting continental gourmet entrees. Last evening my friends & I enjoyed the Chicken Villerette (boned chicken breast sauteed in fine herbs & wine) w/Rice Pilaf & vegs., only $5.75 & the Shilling Rack of Lamb was delectable (cooked in a pastry shell and served w/peanut butter sauce), Rice Pilaf & a fresh veg., only $7.50. Here's a tip: Try the Escargot served on toast rounds & mushroom caps smothered in garlic butter . . . absolutely delectable!

Dining is a memorable experience at EMILE'S SWISS AFFAIR, under the friendly direction of Chef-Owner Emile Mooser. Emile's culinary expertise is beyond compare . . . His menu is full of classic haute cuisine & features nightly creations of his own. The restaurant is small, comfortable yet elegant. The food is superb & rated "4 stars" in my book & by many other dining critiques. I suggest you call for reservations & make this one of your most special dining affairs!!

If "Disco" is "your thing" . . . the 94th AERO SQUADRON has a downstairs lounge that is lively & the dance floor is crowded with dancers who enjoy good music. The sound system is grand & it's not a "postage stamp" sized dance floor either. Why don't you stop by & enjoy a unique dinner amongst the old WW I memorabilia, then step downstairs for an evening of fine drinks, dancing, & entertainment?

Athearn, Ruiz combine to wallop Panthers 33-6

BETWEEN GREG Athearn's running and Scott Ruiz' passing, the Prospect Panthers didn't stand a chance last Friday afternoon when they opened up their West Valley Athletic League season against the Westmont Warriors.

Athearn and Ruiz both enjoyed superlative afternoons, spurring the Warriors to an easy 33-6 rout of the visiting Panthers.

Athearn was the main thorn in Prospect's side, toting the ball 17 times for 93 yards and four touchdowns. The Westmont runningback tallied the Warriors' first four touchdowns of the day on short romps of one, six, three and three yards.

Ruiz, meanwhile, was riddling the Panther secondary for 157 yards, completing 13 of 21 pass attempts.

"Ruiz passed super well," praised Prospect head coach Earl Adams. "He kept us off balance all afternoon long."

After Athearn had done his damage with three touchdowns in the second quarter and one in the third, Ruiz hit Carl Morant for an eight yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter.

Prospect avoided the stigma of a shut-out in the third period when Dave Angerole capped a seven play, 60 yard drive with a one yard touchdown plunge. Angerole had keyed the drive with a 21 yard run.

But that was to be the lone bright spot on an otherwise dismal day for the Panthers.

"WE DIDN'T MOVE the ball very well and we didn't play very well," said Adams. "Our blocking in the line wasn't very good, either."

Adams did have some kind words for the Panther defense, however.

"I thought the defense played pretty well even though it did give up 33 points," he noted.

Adams singled out linebacker Tom Motkie, defensive tackle Ken Hoyt, and cornerback Mike Cetenich for their efforts in the loss.

"We played fairly well defensively," said Westmont head coach Don Stagnaro, noting that the Warriors held Prospect to just four first down and 74 net yards.

Spearheading the Warrior defense were nose guard Chris Brown and linebacker Bill Stoueffer.

In addition to Athearn, Phil Lopresti did a fine job of running the ball for Westmont, toting the ball 10 times for 47 yards.

The Warriors will attempt to up their record to 2-0 Saturday night when they travel to Los Gatos for an 8 p.m. contest with the Wildcats.

Prospect, meanwhile, will travel to Camden Friday for a 3:30 p.m. contest with the Cougars. Camden opened its season last week by nipping defending league champion Branham 7-6.

Avrit, Paulin pace Vikes to Golden Gate meet 1st

WEST VALLEY College finished faster than anyone else in the competition last weekend to win the Golden Gate Invitational at San Francisco's Golden Gate Park.

The Viking cross country team was clocked at 1:50:23 over the 4.2 mile course to finish two seconds ahead of San Jose City College and 13 seconds ahead of Fresno.

Doug Avrit finished second and Bob Paulin (Camden) was fourth, both registering blistering times on the Golden Gate trails to bring down the overall West Valley team time.

Avrit was clocked at 21:23 with Paulin close behind at 21:39.

Vance Eberly (Los Gatos) romped to 17th at 22:11 with Leroy Bumbaca (Wilcox) 26th at 22:27 and Craig Szanto (Saratoga) 38th at 22:48 to round out the Viking top five.

Rounding out the field for West Valley at the invitational were Larry Bergkamp (Leigh), 42nd at 23:00, Ray Russell (Blackford), 45th at 23:03, Ed Tico (Camden), 62nd at 23:33, Steve Burns (Saratoga), 73rd at 23:55, Phil Hayes (Mt. Pleasant), 86th at 24:26, and Gene Antone, 116th at 25:30.

West Valley will get down to Golden Gate Conference activity this week when the Vikings head to San Mateo's Crystal Springs course to meet Diablo Valley, Laney and Canada in the GGC opener for all four schools.

The following Saturday West Valley will return to Crystal Springs for the San Mateo Invitational.

Broncs pack perfect record to San Jose to battle Spartans

COME Saturday afternoon, the folks out at Santa Clara University will be packing up their gear to make the trip down The Alameda and Santa Clara street to visit San Jose State University for a football game at Spartan Stadium.

But the Broncos will be packing up more than their helmets, shoulder pads and jerseys before making the trip across town for the 7:30 p.m. game — they'll also be packing a perfect 2-0 record!

Santa Clara will take its unblemished record up against the Spartans, 1-2 going into their game with Cal last weekend, in the 13th renewal of the crosstown rivalry that began in 1899.

The Broncos are coming off of an impressive 35-0 victory over US International University. The same weekend, the Spartans were handling Fullerton 23-12 in their Pacific Coast Athletic Association opener.

Santa Clara hasn't managed a victory in the rivalry since 1952 but will be out to snap the string of five straight losses on Saturday.

FORMER SILVER Creek high school stars David Wesley and Greg Miller could play a major role in Santa Clara's bid for a victory in the 1977 edition of the rivalry.

Wesley picked up 96 yards on 27 carries and scored a pair of touchdowns to lead SCU to the easy win over International. Wesley leads all Bronco ball carriers on the season with 162 yards on 44 carries in the first two games.

Miller is a standout in the SCU secondary at a free safety spot. Miller picked off a pass in Santa Clara's opener.

"Wesley ran very well," said Bronco boss Pat Malley of the former Raider. "And our secondary did very well for the second straight time out."

Bronc back Mike Gill of San Jose, a product of Mitty high, is also a threat in the SCU offensive backfield and John Hurley has been performing extremely well at quarterback. Hurley has completed 31 of 59 passes for 519 yards in the first two games of 1977.

Former Bellarmine standout Rob Selvi will lead the charge in the SCU offensive line from his guard spot.

ED LUTHER will line up the Spartans for the game from his quarterback spot. Luther has hooked up on 33 of 63 passes for 316 yards for San Jose.

JJ Johnson heads the Spartan ground show with 138 yards on 23 carries and Kevin Cole has rambled for 136 yards on 38 totes.

Tackles Tony Rice and Coleman Kells, guards Pete Angelidakis and Pete Mastelotto and center George Beadell will lead the charge up front for SJSU. Angelidakis is a freshman guard from Del Mar high school. Nick DeLong, a grad of San Jose high, should see action at tackle for the Spartans.

The Spartans have a string to keep alive in the game with the Broncos. San Jose hasn't lost a football game in Spartan Stadium in their last 16 outings there.

The contest will be broadcast over both the radio networks that broadcast Spartan and Bronco games. KX-RX radio (1500) will go on the air at 7:05 p.m. with the ballgame and KPEN-FM will broadcast the battle beginning at 7:25 p.m.

Quakes, Broncos in benefit soccer tilt

THE SANTA Clara University Broncos will clash with the San Jose Earthquakes in their third annual benefit for the university's soccer program Saturday, Oct. 8, at Buck Shaw Stadium. The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m.

The Quakes, who have won the last two meetings by scores of 3-2 and 2-1, will be led by Paul Child, Leroy DeLeon, Ilija Mitic, Laurie Galloway, John Rowlands, Mark Demling, Davy Kemp, Greg McKeown and Mike Hewitt.

Tickets to the game are available in advance at the University of Santa Clara Athletic Dept., phone 984-4063; the University of Santa Clara Information Booth (984-4242); Fred's Soccer Shop (379-5502); the Earthquake's office (998-5425) or at the gate. Ticket prices are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Baseball films to be shown

BASEBALL instructional films will be shown for members of the Campbell-Moreland Winter Pony League Friday and Saturday night from 7 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. at the Morgan Park clubhouse.

Players from each of the seven teams in the league may attend either showing. The film, provided by the New York Yankees, will feature hitting, base running, fielding, pitching and catching. Admission is free.

The annual election of officers for the Campbell-Moreland Pony League's 1978 season is Tuesday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m.

South Bay hit by storm — local Pee Wees the cause

EVER BEEN caught in a sudden thunderstorm without an umbrella? You run around looking for cover with no success while the storm refuses to let up?

Well, that must have been just how the goalie for the South Bay Hockey Club felt on Sept. 25 when he was put face-to-face with the powerful front line of the Santa Clara Valley Pee Wee AA ice hockey team on the Eastridge ice.

Santa Clara drenched the South Bay goalie with a steady downpour of 77 shots, leaking 15 of them into the cage to flood South Bay 15-0.

Rick Pitta led the Santa Clara storm with six goals and Mike Powers chipped in with four goals. Gordie Burkitt added three goals in the win and Brad Cohen and Bob Hopkins drilled one each.

While it was storming on one end of the ice, there was barely a sprinkle on the other end. Andy Buchanan and John Blue combined for the shut-out in the Santa Clara cage, stopping just one shot each.

The Pee Wee AA team was fresh off of an 8-2 win over Sacramento on the loser's ice. Cohen notched a hit trick with three goals and Ken Riplinger popped two. Pitta, Burkitt and Tony Unti each added a goal.

Buchanan and Blue combined to stop 30 shots in the goal for Santa Clara to help the locals ice the victory.

The Santa Clara AA Mites whipped Squaw Valley 7-1 but fell to Santa Rosa 3-1.

Andy Woolley hit three goals and Brian Compani added two to lead the Santa Clara win over Squaw Valley. Michael Newman and Ramueon Whosendorfe each added one goal. Kevin Stonelake and Joey Harbold combined forces in the goal in the win.

In other games, the AA Squirts stopped Sun Valley 4-2 and Santa Rosa 3-2 and the AA Bantams dropped Belmont 10-0 and Sun Valley 10-6. The AA Midgets ripped Santa Rosa 7-1.

For years, you couldn't get real tobacco flavor without high tar.

Low tar cigarettes just couldn't measure up.

Until MERIT.

Until a breakthrough in tobacco science resulted in a way to boost tobacco flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The result was 'Enriched Flavor™' tobacco.

MERIT and MERIT 100's were packed with this special tobacco. And taste-tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And you can taste it.
